

URGENT ACTION

LEOPOLDO LÓPEZ DENIED ACCESS TO HIS LAWYERS

Venezuelan prisoner of conscience, Leopoldo López, continues to be denied access to his lawyers since 8 April. Despite authorities allowing family visits since 7 May, they continue violating his right to a defence.

On 7 May, prison authorities allowed a visit from Lilian Tintori, Leopoldo López's wife, ending a 35-day period of illegal and unjustified solitary confinement. However, the same authorities continue to deny Leopoldo López access to his lawyers, who have not been able to see Leopoldo López since 8 April, thus violating his right to a defence.

Leopoldo López's lawyers have also expressed concern over his health, calling on authorities to grant him access to a doctor of his choosing who can evaluate his physical and mental state.

Leopoldo López, leader of the opposition party Popular Will (Voluntad Popular), has been in detention since 18 February 2014 at CENAPROMIL (Centro Nacional de Procesados Militares), a military prison in Los Teques, on the outskirts of the capital, Caracas. He is a prisoner of conscience who must be released immediately and unconditionally, as his detention is arbitrary, the charges filed against him were never adequately substantiated and his sentence was clearly politically motivated.

Please write immediately in Spanish or your own language:

- Demanding the Venezuelan authorities immediately grant Leopoldo López free and private access to his family and lawyers of his choosing;
- Urging them to guarantee his personal integrity and provide him with medical attention of his preference;
- Calling on them to release Leopoldo López immediately and unconditionally, as he is a prisoner of conscience who was arbitrarily detained and sentenced without any credible evidence against him.

URGENT ACTION

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Leopoldo López, the leader of the Venezuelan opposition party Popular Will (Voluntad Popular), surrendered before the National Guard on 18 February 2014 after leading a protest. He was charged with a series of crimes, including terrorism, homicide, severe bodily harm, public incitement, damage to property, arson, and conspiracy to commit a crime. He has been imprisoned ever since.

In August 2014, the United Nations (UN) Working Group on Arbitrary Detentions qualified Leopoldo López's detention as arbitrary and the UN High Commissioner for Human Rights demanded his immediate release.

On 13 February 2015, Leopoldo's cell was raided by prison guards, who broke and damaged some of his personal belongings, such as photographs and documents, in what was considered an intimidation tactic.

On 10 September 2015, Leopoldo was sentenced to 13 years and nine months in prison for conspiracy, arson, incitement to commit a crime, and damage to public property. On 13 August 2016, the Appeals Court upheld this ruling.

On 6 December 2016, the Council for the Protection of Children and Youth of the municipality of Chacao ordered the prison Director to allow visits from his children, which were being denied at the time.

On 8 April 2017, prison authorities denied his family the right to visit him, informing them that he had been placed in solitary confinement. His lawyers were not notified of the process or decision to place him in solitary confinement, nor of the contents or basis for this decision. As a result, he has been denied his right to a defence.
