'Fire at Sea' is an outstanding documentary with poetic cinematography capturing life on the Italian island of Lampedusa, at the sharp end of the migrant crisis and a gateway to Europe.

Gianfranco Rosi spent months living on the Mediterranean island, capturing its history, culture and the current everyday reality of its 6,000-strong local population as hundreds of migrants land on its shores on a weekly basis. The resulting documentary focuses on 12-year-old Samuele, a local boy who loves to hunt with his slingshot and spend time on land even though he hails from a culture steeped in the sea.
