

FUNDRAISING UPDATE

December 2018

This month's fundraising update features details of one of the most successful Amnesty International student fundraising events that we've seen this year, a link to our new student fundraising guidelines and info. on how you can donate proceeds from your events before the new year.

University of Aberdeen Fundraising Ball

The University of Aberdeen Amnesty Group teamed up with the University of Aberdeen Economics and Business Society to organise a charity ball last month. The event was held at the Hilton Hotel in Aberdeen and featured a two-course meal, DJ and professional photographer. After the meal and some ballroom dancing, the evening continued with an afterparty at NOX, a club in the centre of Aberdeen. Tickets sold out in advance and the event raised an incredible £2,300 for Amnesty International UK!

We'd like to say a massive thank you to the Amnesty society and the Economics and Business societies at the University of Aberdeen for organising this incredible event.

Students at the University of Aberdeen Ball

Balls are great fundraisers and are always a lot easier to organise if you partner with another society at your university. Start approaching societies now to try and organise an end of term ball in the summer. You can either approach academic societies, as the University of Aberdeen group did, or see if other campaigning societies want to partner with you. LGBTI+ societies and feminist societies are a great fit as our work crosses over so much. You could even partner with other charity groups who might want to split the work and share the proceeds from a large event.

Student Group Fundraising Guidelines

We recently published a set of guidelines for student groups organising fundraising events. These will help you ensure your fundraising events are safe, legal and raise as much money as possible. Please read them if you're planning a fundraising event to raise money for Amnesty International UK or your group
