

URGENT ACTION

UNIONIST SENTENCED TO TWO YEARS IN PRISON

Ghislain Duggary Assy is the Communications Secretary of the Movement of Teachers for the Dignity Dynamic union. He was arrested on the night of 2 to 3 April by hooded men at his home after a coalition of teachers' unions called for a strike on 3 and 4 April, demanding, among other things, the upgrading of quarterly bonuses. He was questioned the same night at the police headquarters in the absence of a lawyer. On 4 April, Ghislain Duggary Assy was charged with organizing the collective action of civil servants outside the prescribed legal framework and "obstructing the operation of the public service," and he was sentenced to two years imprisonment on 8 April. He must be immediately and unconditionally released.

Dear Minister,

I am writing this letter to urge the Ivoirian authorities to immediately and unconditionally release arbitrarily detained unionist, Ghislain Duggary Assy.

Ghislain Duggary Assy is the Communications Secretary of the Movement of Teachers for the Dignity Dynamic union. He was arrested on the night of 2 to 3 April by hooded men at his home, just before the coalition of teachers' unions were due to strike on 3 and 4 April. He was questioned the same night at the police headquarters, in the absence of a lawyer. Once transferred to the public prosecutor's office on 4 April, he was given access to a lawyer and placed under custody by the public prosecutor.

On 8 April, Ghislain Duggary Assy was sentenced to two years imprisonment for "coalition of public officials" and "obstructing the operation of the public service". An appeal was filed by his lawyer the day after the conviction; the hearing date remains pending. He is currently detained at Abidjan Central Prison.

Ghislain Duggary Assy's peaceful action to call for strike to demand, among others, the upgrading of quarterly bonuses for teachers, is not a crime. Amnesty International is deeply concerned that his arrest and detention is based solely on the peaceful exercise of his rights to freedom of expression and association. His conviction and a dozen of arrests following the strike notice sent to the Minister of Education on 21 March 2025 constitute a flagrant violation of workers' human rights, in particular the rights to freedom of expression, strike and association, guaranteed by the Ivorian Constitution and the human rights and labour treaties including the African Charter on Human and Peoples' Rights and the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights to which Côte d'Ivoire is a state party.

I therefore call upon you to ensure that Ghislain Duggary Assy's conviction and sentencing is quashed, and that he is immediately and unconditionally released, as he is being detained solely for his peaceful human rights activism.

Yours sincerely,

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

On 21 March 2025, in compliance with legal procedure, a notice was sent to the Minister of Education by two inter-union organizations, calling for a strike action in primary and secondary schools in Côte d'Ivoire to demand, among other things, the upgrading of quarterly bonuses for teachers.

The unions, who previously protested in October 2024, say negotiations with authorities have failed to address their concerns. The government of Côte d'Ivoire committed to establishing a committee to address the grievances. However, union members have indicated that this committee has not convened since its formation.

In a statement issued on 5 April, the Ministry of the Public Administration called the strike illegal and threatened to punish the striking teachers. On 8 April, a dozen members of the striking inter-union board were arrested, then released a few hours later.
